“A Cellar Full of Surprises”

With the mission of picking the very best for the Kelly's Wine List, there is only one alternative: meeting the producers! Direct contact with each producer is very enriching, since the wines tend to reflect the personality of those who produce them, in an interesting synergy between terroir, the micro climate and the land area where the grapes are planted, and the human intervention represented by the wine producer. I have met with most of the Wine producers in the 2013 collection and believe me there is no shortage of personality and passion!

In recent years there has been a huge movement towards organic and Biodynamic wines, considered by the skeptics as a mere marketing device! The core value of biodynamic farming involves working with nature, using only natural products and encouraging diversity with insects, animals, crops and soils, where the daily activities of planting, pruning, bottling or harvesting the crop are planned using the lunar calendar. In the initial years I was cynical of these tree-hugging wine makers until I realized we had a growing number of biodynamic and organic producers on our list (Marked with ♦), none who advertise the fact on the label! These are among the top growers in the world, passionate people who make wonderful wines that express their terroir all in harmony with nature.

Most of our wines are directly imported* from France especially from Bordeaux, Burgundy, Rhone, Alsace and Languedoc - Roussillon, with the intention on offering both quality & value. All the producers are visited and each wine carefully tasted with the help of my Brother-in-Law, Vincent Avril, wine grower in Chateauneuf-du-Pape.

The half bottle, dessert wines & large bottle selection is at the back of our list. We have also imported a selection of excellent Italian Estate & South African Wines, all of which are well worth trying.

Wines are chosen to deliver a good blend of quality, at excellent prices. Spending is no guarantee of quality, careful tasting however is!

Bill's Special Recommendations

Domaine Jacqueson Rully, Burgundy

Founded by Henri Jacqueson in 1947, succeeded by his son Paul in 1972 and now joined by Paul's daughter Marie, this Domaine has long been recognised as one of the very finest in the Cote Chalonnaise and its wines adorn the lists of many of the finest restaurants such as Taillevent, Tour d'Argent and many other top 3 star Restaurants in France

The secret here is a very traditional approach to winemaking. There is no destemming, a long cuvasion and ageing of the red wines in oak barrels, as are the white wines oak aged.

The reds from pinot noir burst with rich berry like fruit and have great finesse, could easily be mistaken for a top Beaune 1er Cru. They have 12 hectares of wonderfully sited vines, many of which are very old, and prune hard to reduce yields to around 35 hl/ha. They only work the vineyards manually, with very minimal vine treatments.

They are one of only two producers in the village to hand-pick everything. Extremely proficient winemaking and judicious use of new oak (20% for whites and 25% for reds), All this makes for beautifully crafted, ripe, intense, sensual wines which have the class to belie their origins.

ALAIN GRAS St. Romain, Burgundy

Alain Gras lives in Saint-Romain-le-Haut on top of a mountain overlooking the vineyards of the Cote de Beaune. Alain is an energetic, smiling man who is always very generous with his time and his wines. He made his first wine in 1982 and his star has risen continuously since then.

It takes skill to make a Saint-Romain. The high altitude means lower temperatures, which can result in a thinner, more acidic wine in the hands of a less skillful grower, but Alain Gras knows what he is doing. His Saint-Romain blanc (100% Chardonnay) is full-flavored and spectacularly well balanced, the wine has great minerality and notes of lemon and melon and honey. His reds have a beautiful fresh pinot noir cherry fruit aromas and succulent finish.

Most of his wines go to the Top restaurants in France. Believe me, these top chefs can have any wine they want on their menus. That they choose Alain Gras' wine says to me that a chilled Alain Gras Saint-Romain in your glass at the end of the day is a way to feel extravagant without having to be extravagant. I like that.

This is a splendid Domaine and the wines are getting better and better."
